January 21st, 1914

Mr. H. Finkelstein,
54 Stephanie Street,
Toronto.

Dear Mr. Finkelstein:

Mr. Langton, the Librarian, has just written to me that he has sent several notices to you asking you to come to see him about returning books late, but that you have paid no attention to his letters. May I remind you that the regulations of the Librarian must be adhered to by students, and will you please see Mr. Langton at once?

Yours sincerely,

President.
